To Whom It May Concern,

Providence Horizon House and Hickel House have worked with Capital Office over the past several years on some great projects. The team at Capital Office is so helpful. They take the time to really understand the project and what we are looking for and hoping to accomplish.

Our most recent project was at Hickel House. The furniture in the lobby, sitting rooms and lounge needed to be replaced. The Capital Office Team met us at Hickel House so they could see the space and offer recommendations. We wanted the fabric on the furniture to be sturdy, durable and cleanable. The Team came back to us with fabric samples so we could decide which patterns and colors would look best. The lobby is kind of dark, so they provided some lighter fabrics that really brightened up the area. Their customer service is top notch, and they are always responsive to emails and phone calls.

Another project we worked on was updating the furniture in the lobby at Horizon House. The Capital Office Team collaborated with us so they could really understand the look we were trying to achieve and the outcomes we desired. Taking care of the elderly is a special calling and the Capital Office Team spent time with us looking over fabrics and materials that would hold up to spills, stains, and wear and tear. The furniture looks fantastic and it's holding up very well.

We really appreciate our working relationship with Capital Office. Kind staff, excellent customer service, and a quality product.

Sincerely,
